Ridgeway – Where History Still Lives!

Town Council voted at the October meeting on recommended slogans from the Community and Public Relations Committee. The slogan “Ridgeway-Where History Still Lives” was chosen for the descriptive phrase for our Town. This slogan will be added to all our future publications which proclaim a proud history and promising future.

Pig on the Ridge November 1-2, 2013

Enjoy this great weekend of good food, fellowship, and family fun at Pig on the Ridge. Flyer enclosed.

Safety in the Town of Ridgeway

While Town Council continues to diligently and actively seek additional police protection, please join us for a community meeting on crime prevention, turn on your porch lights at dusk, protect your home or business by trimming overgrown grass and bushes, and report any suspicious persons or situations in the community. See enclosed flyer.

Holiday Parade

The Ridgeway Holiday Parade, Songs of the Season, will take place on Sunday, December 1, 2013 at 3:00 p.m. in Ridgeway. Parade line up for participants will be at 2:00 p.m. The parade under the direction of Nelson Lacy and Sara Tucker will seek to uphold these three premises: safety; a reflection of the Season; and representation from all of the Ridgeway community. Please contact Nelson Lacy 337-3269 or Sara Tucker 622-9185. If you are interested in participating, forms are available at Town Hall. Deadline to register is November 21, 2013.

Christmas on the Ridge Friday, December 6, 2013

The Arts on the Ridge Committee with the Merchants Association of Ridgeway and the Fairfield County Arts Council present Christmas on the Ridge on December 6, 2013 from 6:00 p.m.-8:00 p.m. Musical performances are as follows: 6:30 p.m. St. Stephens Episcopal Church, The Johnson Family String Trio and Organist Beverley Anderson, and 7:30 p.m. Aimwell Presbyterian Church, A Victorian Christmas. Carriage rides will be offered as well as additional shopping downtown by the local merchants. Laura’s Tea Room will be serving a special holiday delight.
